Riots Staged By Starving Hordes Of Russian Famine Stricken Refugees

Sweep Across Country Toward Moscow And Petrograd. Troops Withhold Their Fire And Cavalry Horses Are Shot For Food. Horrible Scenes Pictured

London, Eng., July 28.—Demonstrations beyond the control of military and civil authorities are raging in Russia as the result of the famine, according to Russian newspapers received here today. Starving Russian refugees are sweeping across the country by the thousands, moving relentlessly toward Moscow, stripping the land like locusts as they go.

Cities Looted.

Cities have been looted. All animals have been killed for food. The city of Tamboff was practically devastated on July 20th, according to the newspaper Isvetia. The Soviet authorities started out to check the starving invaders but the refugees marched doggedly on in the face of fixed bayonets and the sharp commands of the soldiers to halt.

Troops Refuse to Fire

The troops did not have the heart to fire and the thousands of refugees staggered into the city. Cavalry horses were first sacrificed for food, the city having no other means of feeding the starving horde. The fire departments were the next to be devasted of their horses, which were shot in the streets. Thousands of refugees fought over the carcasses.

Over 6,500,000 men, women and children have overflowed into the Province of Fensaw and Varoness according to newspaper reports. Fighting similar to that in the city of Tamboff was said to have occurred in several smaller place.

Soldiers Join In

Russian soldiers, discouraged by short rations are said to have joined in demonstrations in Petrograd and Moscow. Petrograd was the scene of intense riots on July 19 and 20, in which 100 armed men were killed and 1500 wounded. Women are also reported to have joined in the demonstrations and many have been killed by the firing squads

TWO BLACKSOX PLAYERS ARE VINDICATED

"Happy" Felsch And Buck Weaver Hope To Be In Uniform Again In Few Days. Up To Judge Landis.

By CARL VICTOR LITTLE
United Press Correspondent

Chicago, Ill., July 28.—"Buck" Weaver and "Happy" Felsch, two of the seven Whitesox players held on conspiracy to throw the 1919 World series, hope to be back playing on their old teams again within a few days. The court, where the "Blacksox" trials were in progress, held the state had not presented sufficient evidence to warrant the conviction of Weaver or Felsch.

Petitions bearing the names of 10,000 signers have been presented to Charles Comiskey, president of the White Sox club, asking re-instatement of Felsch and Weaver. Whether or not either wil lever play ball again is now up to Judge Landis.

Junk Collector's Rig Demolished Roadster. Owner Now Seeks Damages In Sum Of $200.00

Pentz & Pentz, representing Rosa Mater, of DuBois, entered suit in Prothonotary Ralston's office yesterday against H. Shakespeare, also of DuBois in an effort to recover $200 the amount of alleged damage done to a peanut roaster belonging to Mrs Mater.

The woman runs a little store in the big city and on March 16th last had the peanut roaster sitting on the walk in front of her place of business. The gentlemen with the literary name is a junk collector and on the day in question while driving his horse and wagon about the city streets, the animal frightened and ran off. Paris, July 28.—"America must intervene in the Upper Silesian controversy to prevent another Polish-German war which easily might ignite another European War," Adalbert Corfanty, leader of the Polish insurgents, declared today in an exclusive interview with the United Press. "There is real danger of such a war unless the issue at stake is promptly and definitely settled" he declared. "It is difficult to see how it is to be prevented unless the United States intervenes."

FOUR CLEARFIELD BOYS WILL GO TO TRAINING CAMP

75 Local Boys Sent In Applications But Only Four Were Accepted For Citizens' Military Training Camp.

Clearfield will be represented at the army training school at Camp Meade during next month. More than seventy-five applications were made for admission to the camp following the notification by the War Department that army training would be given the youth of the land. Of these seventy-five applications places were found for but four young men and the following named have been notified to report to Camp Meade on August 1st for the thirty days' training:—Fred Staver, Robert Snoke, Edwin Green, and Sol Mirkin.

All the expenses incident to the schooling, including transportation to and from the camp, will be paid by the government.

O. B. PORTER, NOTED EXPERT, WANTS ROADS TO LEAD SOMEWHERE ONCE

Why Go To Philipsburg Anyhow With The Brewery Only Working Part Time.---The Hignway Commissioner Got His Load Out The Other Way

PARK AVENUE MUST BE PAVED

Speaking before the Rotary Club, 4,699 cu. ft. p. m. (Einstein time) today, O. Bruce Porter, Park avenue's famed orator eclipsed all former efforts in an address on Good Roads. For more than 999 millimeters, similar time, Mr. Porter took his well fed hearers over pleasant paths with never a jounce or jolt and at the end of the excursion landed them again safely in their chairs.

Speaking in epigrams, and without any attempt at word juggling, the orator stirred his hearers repeatedly with his shafts of wit, wisdom, ridicule and piquancy. His stage manner was superb, changing in the twinkling of an eye from the Shylock of Shakespeare when describing present day roads to the shepherd of the hills when portraying the roads that will come through his recommendations. Great beads of perspiration raced down over his intellectual dome to meet and greet the tears of grief over the lot of the present day motorist. Again his countenance would beam with fiendish glee and delight as he would describe the Einstein time to be made when roads are measured in terms of space, not time.

He denounced present methods of road building, scoring Commissioner Sadler in these words: "Roads should lead somewhere, so why build roads to DuBois and Philipsburg."

And again he declared with vehemence, "Why build roads over hills? Did not the song writer warn us that 'over the hill leads to the poor house'?"

"Moreover," said he, touching on politics in local affairs, "why build improved streets on Fourth street and Gulich avenue while Park avenue, an earthly Arcadia, goes unimproved?"

"Moreover," he thundered again, "the Rotary Internationale will never get anywhere using that spike spoked wheel; cut them off, smooth up the surface and start her rolling." At this juncture Mr. Porter recited an appropriate home brew poem rhyming "rolling" with "Dolling," but since advertising is banned from our news columns the censor has deleted that part of the report (but he did it).

Mr. Porter gave his hearer a real jolt, and much food for thought when after his commendable dissertation on roads he rose to his full heighth, stretched forth his hands to the north and south and exclaimed: "Now, my friends and enemies, why build roads at all? The airplane is the future means of travel." It was in this great climax that his hearers came to a full realization of the breadth and depth of the mentality of the speaker of the evening.

It was a great night for the Rotarians. Immediately after the address they formed a procession and with our hero upon their shoulders they paraded the principal streets of the town singing "It's a long, long trail."

President Prepares To Issue The Formal Invitations For Coming Disarmament Meet

All Five Nations In Line For Proposed Oct. Conference

By A. L. BRADFORD
(United Press Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., July 28.—President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes today were preparing to issue the formal call for the Washington disarmament and Pacific conference. Japan's acceptance of the proposal for such a conference, although couched in terms holding important reservations, was held to be "most gratifying" here today.

Since Japan's reply became known it means the unanimous acceptance by all five of the great powers receiving invitations to participate.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

"By Skinney"

Our editor friend, President Harding may not be getting us back to normalcy as fast as some of us would like to see it done but he has accomplished one thing and we propose to give him credit with it. He has killed the potato bugs. For the first time since the potato bug came out of the west some forty-five years ago, there is not a potato bug—big or little—to be found anywhere in Pennsylvania's potato fields and we think Warren G's administration is entitled to credit for that happy state of affairs.

Normalcy has returned in part at least for local New York Central railroad company employes. They received yesterday their first pay under the recently promulgated Rail Labor wage board wage slash and each railroader was docked a matter of 9½c per day from last year's schedule. No, freight rates have not dropped yet.

No man is longer safe from "these here" female vamps. A New York woman recently expressed such a fondness for the husband of one of her neighbors that her own husband got peeved about it and got a divorce. The vamp didn't care because the other fellow promised to make her his wife—sometime. After the divorce from No. 1 had been granted, No. 2 experienced a change of heart and decided his own wife was good enough for him. Now, what do you know a bout that "vamp?" She has brought suit against her "soul mate" or affinity for $50,000 damages alleging among other things the following:

"By reason of the defendant's conduct she has sustained a great mental and physical shock. She had become ill. Her character and reputation have been injured. She has been humiliated before her friends and family and divorced by her husband and deprived of his support and she has suffered great anguish her prospects being greatly injured."

It is the little things that count. Secretary of Labor Davis has discovered that the government can save $50,000 per year by buying lead pencils with out rubbers for use of the clerks and stenographers at Washington. He says individual erasers are supplied all around any how and the cheaper plain pencils will do the business.

Every Congressman and United States Senator might well take heed of the following letter received by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance mailed by an ex-service man in New York City just previous to his committing suicide because he was out of work and out of funds. The letter contained a lone dollar bill with this penciled inscription accompanying it.

"This eagle will scream no more for me. It is the first dollar I have earned since being discharged from the army in September last."

Poor Old John Barleycorn, he soon will not have a single leg to stand on, as he is now being fiercely swatted and slaughtered in the houses of his friends. The latest booze fighter to hand Old John a slap on the wrist is President Heinisch of Austria, who, in addressing a temperance league meeting at Salzburg recently said, "we would have won the war if the people in both Germany and Austria-Hungary could have been persuaded to practise total alcoholic abstinence."

Why Unlucky to Go Back.

How many people would be willing to acknowledge that they believe it is bad luck to return, after leaving the house, for something they have forgotten? Some popular superstitions can be explained psychologically—and this is one of them. The psychologists agree as to the bad luck part of it, but say that the bad luck consists not so much in the going back for the article as in the forgetting of it in the first place. This shows that you do not keep your mind sufficiently upon the details of what you are doing.

Musical Gifts of Boys and Girls.

The higher musical endowments in male children are shown plainly in vocal and piano classes, where it seems invariable that the most expert and brightest students are boys. For every musical girl, there appears to be five boys equally gifted. They have naturally a better idea of harmony and instinctively grasp musical values, which, in the majority of cases, become understood by their feminine rivals only by dint of hard study.—Exchange.

WHAT WILL IT COST

The news that the War Department has decided to abandon several of its army cantonments, maintained for the past two years at a cost that makes one shudder, brings with it the apprehension in many quarters that the abandonment is going to be an expensive matter. It is an admitted fact it cost over a quarter of a million a month to run each and every one of these camps. Of course, this speaks only of operating expenses. In addition over half a million a year is required for upkeep in each. The value of each of the camps will run somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 but the cost of the army supplies stored at several is almost beyond calculation. At one camp in the mid-west an annual inventory taken over a year ago showed $40,000,000 worth of goods on hand.

What will be done with these huge stores of supplies, and how much it is going to cost to take care of them and properly safeguard them is one of the many things bothering those following the financial intricacies of the War Department.

In addition it will cost money to raze the camps, all of which has to come from somewhere. And last but not least, perhaps the reason that Senate and House leaders yesterday decided that railroad financial relief is not necessary is in view of the fact that the railroads will eventually reap huge benefits from the moving of the troops and supplies quartered at the various cantonments. It is noticed late reports say the troops will be marched to their next posts wherever feasible. We just wonder if they intend to take the bands along and whether they will play their way from village to village, much after the fashion of the old "German bands" and thus save the government railroad fare.

However, experts have figured it out, it is claimed, that the marching of large bodies of troops over hard roads in this country does not affect a material saving. On a two to three week hike at a rate of 12 to 15 miles a day, a pair of shoes will go up in smoke for each soldier. Figure the cost per mile. The only advantage of the idea is to give the men an opportunity to march under something near war conditions.

Japan has at last consented to a discussion of Far East and Pacific affairs at the proposed Washington disarmament conference. Which is just what has been expected all along. Nobody seriously considered the idea the Nipponese would back out of the deal, but it did raise some considerable worry over among the Washington diplomats who for the time being did not know whether they were going or coming, from all accounts.

A New Jersey pastor was recently shocked at bare knees and long expanses of feminine limbs (if you please) exposed at a "nature" dance given at a high school commencement. It is a good thing the worthy pastor is not required to spend his days in Clearfield. He would not have to attend High School commencement exercises to find an excuse to be shocked.

Just for example, a High School student of the fair sex was recently heard to exclaim to a girl companion, "Hey kid, what do you think of my new skirt," which attracted our attention enough to spare a glance. And we thought it was a sash.

DISARM OR PAY UP

Senator Borah ever and anon strikes the center of the target with his long range shots at disarmament. In his last attack he has put something up to the American people that really looks like it was all wool and a yard wide. He proposes the funding of the foreign debt be postponed until after the disarmament conference has concluded this work. Which, after all, seems one logical way to insure full consideration will be given the proposed conference and its works by all nations, especially those debtor to the United States. Billions are owed this country, and, as is readily admitted, "money tlaks."

In the forthsoming disarmament ronference, it should virtually shout, and in this instance Uncle Sam seems to hold the megaphone. Debtor nations who contend they must continue their armament programs would, under Senator Borah's plan, be told to "pay up" first.

In his recent speech Senator Borah said:

"We are now under this process, in fact, lending foreign Governments about $1,000,000 a day, and in the fact that we are forgoing the interest or deferring it we are, in fact, imposing upon American taxpayers the burden of taking care of our taxes and continuing to lend to foreign Governments at the rate of nearly $1,000,000 a day. In other words, to the extent which the foreign Governments can in good faith meet this debt and interest upon it we should inform them that we expect that to be done. The policy should be a definite, a positive and a firm policy, otherwise, it never wil lachieve anything.

"There is one other feature of this question to which I desire to call attention, and that is the relation of the foreign debt to disarmament. If I had my way about it I would not fund this debt at all nor delay the interest until after the disarmament parley had concluded its final session. It may be a matter of very great importance in the treatment of the questions which will arise at that parley. Certainly, if the Governments are unable, as they say, to meet their foreign debt and continue to spend the vast sums which they are now expending for armament it would cause us to adopt an entirely different policy in case we should fail to agree upon disarmament. For one, if there should be a reluctance upon their part to enter upon any reasonable agreement with reference to disarmament, I should certainly feel justified in insisting that they promptly meet their debt and promptly meet the interest upon their debt.

AUTO EMIGRANTS READY TO LEAVE FOR FAR WEST

Modern Fleet of Prairie Schooners To Start On Long Trip Across Country To New Home—City Dwellers To Take Up Farm Life.

New York, July 28. (United Press.)—An emigrant train, 1921 model, was scheduled to leave here today for the west.

The trip will not be made in old-fashioned "prairie schooners" but in automobiles, each equipped with a trailer to provide sleeping and cooking accommodations.

The caravan consists of 128 families, all native Americans, who have tired of city life and will take up farming in Idaho, on a tract about 50 miles southwest of Twin Falls. The trip is expected to be made by way of Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago and Omaha.

The scheme originaed with William D. Scott, a Brooklyn salesman, who formerly lived in Minneapolis. He and a friend used to take motor excursions with their families every summer. When the idea of moving to Idaho was born, a mutual friend wanted to go with them, then another and another, until it was decided to form a regular colony.

"THE GOLEM"

Again does a German-made picture disclose a new and novel brand of screen fiction. "The Golem"" directed by Paul Wegener, impressively relates a Jewish folk lore tale that has been handed down from generation to generation since the Fifteenth Century. The story itself is quite preposterous, and illustrates the queer mixture of superstition and religious ardor which was found among all creeds and civilized races four hundred years ago. Cold analysis of "The Golem" subject matter proves it to be poor stuff—with a belief in black art, horoscopy and the conjuration of the spirits of the unseen world necessary, if the story is to be taken seriously. Scenes are shown that never took place except in the imagination of the mind which conceived them but so adroitly are most of these scenes presented and so truthfully do they reflect the "form and pressure of the time" that the production of this old fable chains the attention and holds it captive until the final foot of film.

It tells of a Rabbi who created a figure of clay and brought it to life It was to be the champion of his people and did serve that purpose in saving the life of the king, but a jealous apprentice brought it to life once more and could not stay it in its course of destruction and terror The finish is a fine stroke. The Golem crashes through the massive gates of the Ghetto into the city and picks up a little girl, who smiles at him. Delighted, he smiles back at her. She innocently plucks the magic paper from his breast, and he tumbles back, a heap of lifeless clay

The acting of every role is equal to the demands. The actor who plays the Rabbi is superbly efficient, but not more so than is Paul Wagner as the Golem. His mage-up is remarkable and he moves and acts in an automative manner that suggests perfectly the soulless creature he is impersonating. It is a unique and wonderfully artistic character study.

"THE SIGN ON THE DOOR"

Norma Talmadge usually both decorates and illuminates a screen story. Her Acacia in "The Passion Flower" was a characterization that did these things, and more, by dint of a deep suggestiveness. In the present adaption of Channing Pollock's popular (so they say thriller, however. Miss Talmadge is the abused and innocent melodramatic "orphan" (a figure of speech that covers the case of "all unprotected, Lo, I stand") who blazes her way through it all, mainly by snooting as they say in the studio, her eyes. It must have been a thankless role for one who knows as much as does Miss Talmadge about emotions subtler than those provided by a .32 calibre revolver and a woman hunter.

Herbert Brenon directed the picture, and he deserves lots of credit for his work. The continuity is just mediocre, and the photography is hard and at, black and white—not good enough for Mr. Brenon—and the tedious explanations and artificial solutions are—well, what one might expect from "The Sign on the Door."

"LITTLE ITAL"

So thoorugh and intelligent an actress as Alice Brady—who is very often an artist to boot—is worthy of consideration before her photoplay, his photoplay, at least. Miss Brady has no beauty to speak of above a whisper. It is ACT with her, or settle back playing Mrs. Crane. She has personality, to be sure, and one might venture a touch of magnetism with it, but she is not banking on them. She uses facial expression and bodily pantomime as tho saying something with them was her only business in life, with the result that there is some grip to her pictures. Miss Brady works, and the effect shows up in her pictures.

"Little Italy" is a sort of Montague-Capulet vendetta affair, laid somewhere near New York, in that indefinite area which, in ready-made parlance, "lies in the shadow of the Goddess of Liberty." Miss Brady plays an Italian belle who marries, because of a silly cow she made, the son of her father's lifelong enemy. The story leads up to a middling good climax, when the authors seem so eager to effect a happy ending that they throw suspense to the winds and a bona fide situation after it. Meanwhile Miss Brady is doing her best to keep the thing going, and Norman Kerry is doing his best to give an imitation of a gentleman in distress. Heroic as these things may be, the picture sags in spite of them before the end.

To be review next week—"The Conquering Power," "An Unwilling Hero," "The Conquest of Canaan."

BROOKVILLE FALLS BEFORE BATS OF LOCAL BUNCH

Terriers Get Revenge For Walloping Here Tuesday. Defeat Pete McCracken's Team 13 To 9 In Regular Batfest.

Manager Hoffman and his Terriers came off the victors in a real hectic baseball battle at Brookville yesterday afternoon, the final tally, after a record-breaking swatfest being Clearfield 13; Brookville, 9.

Both teams hammered the ball unmercifully thirty-five hits for a total of fifty-four bases being the extent of the slamming of the pill.

Two Pitchers Bumped

Artman started the game for Brookville and lasted less than three innings. During the time he was on the mound eight hits were knocked out by the Clearfield sluggers. He was succeeded in the third by Hartman who fared but little better as eleven more hits were pounded out in the remaining innings.

Fileshifter Alsa Hit Hard

Fileshifter was also hit hard. Brookville securing sixteen hits off him. Eight of these hits came right straight endways in the seventh inning and resulted in eight runs. Fileshifter had been going along in fine style up to this session and not a Brookville runner had crossed the *plate. But listen to this post mor*tum of that seventh. Hart opened with a single, Buddinger flied out to third. Hartman pickled one for three bases. Swanson walked, Warren hit safely, DeHart fanned and then Thompson, Summers, Buck and Hart each laced out singles, while Buddinger cracked out a triple. The perspiring Fileshifter then fanned Hartman and the slaughter ended with a total of eight runs. It was some inning.

Brookville's ninth run was the result of a couple of errors.

Clearfield Won From Start

The Terriers jumped right in and put two runs across in the first on hits by Kane, Seigfried and Hoffman. They added another in the second on Russell's walk and Fileshifter's triple.

Harris Hits Homer

Seigfried doubled in the third and he scored with Harris on the latter's home run to centre.

Seigfried's walk, Anderson's single, a double by Harris and a single by Hoffman scored three more runs in the fourth while Wolfe's triple and Russell's single accounted for two more in the fifth.

Harris double and steal and a couple of sacrifice flies put another over in the sixth and our last two runs were gathered in in the eighth when Anderson singled. Harris was hit by the pitcher and Zerfluh doubled and Wolfe singled.

The Games Features

Joe Harris' hitting was the outstanding feature of the game, while Russell's catching and the work of Seigfried and Wolfe was pretty to look at.

"To Cross the Rubicon."

The Rubicon is the ancient name of a stream flowing into the Adriatic, which formed the boundary between Cisalpine Gaul and Italy proper. The phrase "to cross the Rubicon" has come to mean to take an irrevocable step, from the familiar story of its passage by Caesar, who, by crossing it in 49 B. C., virtually declared war against the republic. The modern Luso, called by the peasants on its banks Il Rubicone, has claims to being the ancient Rubicon, but arguments preponderate in favor of the Fiumicino.

HUNDREDS ATTEND GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF MR. AND MRS. CHASE

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Chase celebrated their fiftieth or golden wedding anniversary at their home on Fourth street yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Chase are among Clearfield's best known and most estimable residents and between six and eight hundred of our people from every walk in life were present during the day to extend congratulations and express the wish that this worthy couple might be privileged to enjoy many more happy wedding anniversaries.

John M. Chase, Jr., and Jennie Phillips, then both residents of the Sanborn section of Clearfield county, were happily married at Philipsburg July 27, 1871. The young couple were representative members of two of the pioneer families of their home sections and families which were and have been closely identified with the history, development and advancement of the county and its every best interest.

The young couple went to housekeeping in the Sanborn region, where they lived until about thirty years ago, when John M. Chase, Sr., and his family moved to Clearfield, and have since resided here.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase raised a fine family of eight sons, seven of whom are living and reside right here in Clearfield, all, with their families, being present on yesterday's happy and auspicious occasion.

The sons were the moving spirits in the celebration and, with their wives, perfected the arrangements and carried the affair through to such a pleasing and satisfactory conclusion. The spacious Chase home was artistically decorated in gold and white and presented a pleasing sight throughout.

On account of the large number of relatives and friends desirous of honoring Mr. and Mrs. Chase by their presence it was necessary to divide the celebration into two parts, the immediate relatives and old home friends being invited to be present from 12 o'clock until 2, while the friends generally were invited to attend the reception to the honor guests from 7 to 9 in the evening.

At the afternoon gathering following most delicious and abundant refreshments, Judge Singleton Bell took charge of the gathering in the capacity of Toastmaster and after paying a pretty personal tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Chase, lifelong friends, called upon in turn Messrs. Rev. F. L. Barlens, W. C. Miller, M. L. McQuown, Matt Savage, H. B. Powell, Rev. J. S. Gearhart, John B McGrath, Hon. Joseph E. Phillips. All were personal friends of the family for many years and all gave glowing testimonial to the respect and esteem in which these good people are held all over Clearfield county.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase each expressed the gratification and pleasure at being thus surrounded by their relatives and friends and returned their thanks to an All-wise Creator for allowing the making possible of such an occasion.

The "bride and groom" were then photographed, after which a family group was taken, and then the entire assemblage was grouped and pictured by Photographer Howard for the purpose of perpetuating the happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase were the recipients of many exceptionally handsome and expensive presents and have every reason to feel proud and happy over the success of their "golden wedding."

The following friends and old time neighbors from out of town were in attendance; John Brotherlin, Irvona; Mrs. Annie M. Goss, Pittsburg; Mrs. Robie Caraher, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Caraher, Altoona; Miss Jennie Hesser Altoona; Ed. Goss, Theodore Kerr, Big Run; Mrs. Owen Duffy, Mrs. V. G. Henderson, Woodland; Mrs. Burton Merritt, Winburne, Pa.; Myra Haines Osceola; Rev. F. L. Bardens, Blairsville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Williams, Utahville; Mr. and Mrs. Anson Swan, Mr. and Mrs. John Wise, Ansonville; Mrs. Mary Hannah Markle, LaJose; Mr and Mrs. Elmer Goss, Twin Rocks; D. A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

Codling Moth Spray.—Owing to the unusually early occurance of codling moth and late apple worms, such as leaf rollers, sprays for their control should be applied at any time from now on. There should be one thorough application of lime-sulphur to test 1.008 specific gravity, with three pounds of arsenate of lead added to eahc 100 gallons. This is a very important spray for all orchards.

Cereal Pests. — Before thrashed wheat is placed in the bins, sweep them out well, removing all of last year's grain, and fumigate the bins with carbon bisulphide before putting in the new wheat. If this is not done, and the wheat begins to heat, fumigate with the bisulphide, using one pound to 100 bushels of grain.

Poultry Culling.—The successful poultrykeeper is culling his flock every few days at this time. Just as soon as a hen molts she should be removed from the flock and sold. This cuts down the feed and increases the revenues.

Grape Spray.—To check the mildews and rot on grapes, they should be sprayed immediately with a 4-3-50 solution of Bordeaux mixture. A small hand sprayer or a knapsack outfit will do for the application in ohme vines See that the clusters are well covered.

Garden.—In dry weather remember that a mere sprinkling of water over the surface does more harm than good, by causing the upper soil to bake. A sound drenching followed by cultivation is the thing.

Dairy—Get some of your neighbors together and invite your county farm agent to be present for a discussion of the possibility of organizing a co-operative bull association. In this way you can secure the services of excellent sires for a period of years at low cost.

PLANS FOR CO-OPERATIVE WORK WITH STATES

The Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture maintains a separate division in its organization to handle its co-operation with the various States. With the consolidation of the administration of the Office of Farm Management under the chief of this bureau, it is planned to strengthen the co-operative relations with the State institutions. It is desired that the work underaken by State and Federal workers will be based on definite projects as has been done for the past two years in the Office of Farm Management.

Research work in farm management, cost of production and cost of marketing, marketing methods and practices, etc., will be undertaken co-operatively with the State colleges and experiment stations whenever satisfactory arrangements can be made to work together. Based on information gained from these investigations the educational work will be carried on in co-operation with the extension service of the State colleges. The service work, which covers in a broad way the market news and the inspection work of the bureau, will usually be with the State Departments of Agriculture and the State Bureaus of Markets, conforming in this regard to the division of labor agreed upon in the State.

London, Eng., July 28.—Demonstrations beyond the control of military and civil authorities are raging in Russia as the result of the famine, according to Russian newspapers received here today. Starving Russian refugees are sweeping across the country by the thousands, moving relentlessly toward Moscow, stripping the land like locusts as they go.

Cities Looted.

Cities have been looted. All animals have been killed for food. The city of Tamboff was practically devastated on July 20th, according to the newspaper Isvetia. The Soviet authorities started out to check the starving invaders but the refugees marched doggedly on in the face of fixed bayonets and the sharp commands of the soldiers to halt.

Troops Refuse to Fire

The troops did not have the heart to fire and the thousands of refugees staggered into the city. Cavalry horses were first sacrificed for food, the city having no other means of feeding the starving horde. The fire departments were the next to be devasted of their horses, which were shot in the streets. Thousands of refugees fought over the carcasses.

Over 6,500,000 men, women and children have overflowed into the Province of Fensaw and Varoness according to newspaper reports. Fighting similar to that in the city of Tamboff was said to have occurred in several smaller place.

Soldiers Join In

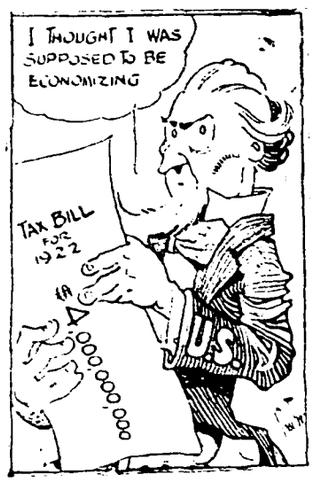

Russian soldiers, discouraged by short rations are said to have joined in demonstrations in Petrograd and Moscow. Petrograd was the scene of intense riots on July 19 and 20, in which 100 armed men were killed and 1500 wounded. Mistletoe Customs.

Mistletoe, when not suspended in the air, is regarded by the superstitious as a harbinger of bad luck. There is an old reason for hanging a bunch of mistletoe in the center of the room, a custom which had nothing frivolous about it in the first place. Balder, in Scandinavian mythology, was killed by an arrow of mistletoe. On his being restored to life it was promised that the plant never again would perpetuate evil unless it touched the earth.

When Men Fought in Steel.

As a general statement it may be said that armor weighed from thirty pounds, for a suit of chain mail, and fifty for ordinary complete plate, to 100 or more for the heavy tournament equipment. The armor for the horse might weigh as other hundred pounds in spite of its weight, armor, when of good quality and worn (a most important point) over properly constructed, padded undergarments, was surprisingly mobile

RANDOLPH CASE MAY NEVER GO TO COURT

Reports Current Plea Of Insanity Will Be Made In His Behalf. Claim His Memory Of Event Vague.

Sharon, Pa., July 28.—It is said upon reliable authority that the case against Thomas M. Randolph, local business man who figured in a "kidnaping" fiasco last week in which he said in letters written to his father that he was being held for $50,000 ransom, may never go to trial. Reports are current that a plea of insanity will be entered in his behalf, but they lack confirmation.

Randolph's memory regarding the actual occurrences from the time of his disappearance to the time he made his sensational dash for home in his automobile appears to be vague. He says he doe snot remeber how he get to Stoneboro. This may prove the basis on which his attorneys will make their plea, alleging that Randolph was the victim of a mental lapse superinduced by sunstroke or worry, combined with overwork, resulting in a general breakdown.

How Ohio River Got Name.

The Allegheny and Ohio rivers were regarded by the French as one stream. The name given by them, La Belle Riviere (the beautiful river), is a translation of the Seneca term "Ho he-yu," changed by the whites, both English and French, at a later date into Ohio.

Took Train From Chicago For His Home At Kankakee. Wife Met Train But Gov. Small Not On It.

Chicago, Ill., July 28.—Where is Len Small? The indicted Illinois governor who stands charged with embezzling huge sums of state money, has dropped from sight today. After spending Wednesday with political friends and legal advisers in Chicago, he supposedly left for his home in Kankakee last night.

The train Gov. Small is supposed to have taken was met, on arrival in Kankakee, by Mrs. Small and other members of his family. However, the governor did not appear.

Wife Greatly Worried

Mrs. Small appeared greatly worried and today is meeting every train that arrives. She said the governor was not in Kankakee and she did not know where he was.

Friends and advisers said he had either gone to Kankakee or Springfield. The executive has not as yet arrived at the State Capitol. Alt the Chicago newspapers who had squads of men trailing the indicted governor admitted they had lost all trace of him following the conference at the Congress Hotle yesteterday.

In some quarters it was believed the strain and worry of the past few days has caused friends to advise Gov. Small to seek some secluded spot for a few days rest before taking up his fight against the court order for his arrest .

US CARTRIDGES AND SHELLS

Does your rifle barrel say to rust "Please come in"?

If, even though you always clean your rifle before putting it away, there is a tendency for rust to eat tiny "pits" in the barrel, the trouble is caused by the ammunition you use. The priming in such ammunition attracts rust.

All U S Rim-Fires (including the famous .22 N. R. A.) are now made with a special, non-fouling, non-erosive priming that adds thousands of rounds to the life of a rifle.

Be good to your rifle. Help it to fight rust. Use only US Cartridges. Money back if not satisfied.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

"By Skinney"

Our editor friend, President Harding may not be getting us back to normalcy as fast as some of us would like to see it done but he has accomplished one thing and we propose to give him credit with it. He has killed the potato bugs. For the first time since the potato bug came out of the west some forty-five years ago, there is not a potato bug—big or little—to be found anywhere in Pennsylvania's potato fields and we think Warren G's administration is entitled to credit for that happy state of affairs.

Normalcy has returned in part at least for local New York Central railroad company employes. They received yesterday their first pay under the recently promulgated Rail Labor wage board wage slash and each railroader was docked a matter of 94c per day from last year's schedule. No, freight rates have not dropped yet.

No man is longer safe from "these here" female vamps. A New York woman recently expressed such a fondness for the husband of one of her neighbors that her own husband got peeved about it and got a divorce. The vamp didn't care because the other fellow promised to make her his wife—sometime. After the divorce from No. 1 had been granted, No. 2 experienced a change of heart and decided his own wife was good enough for him. Now, what do you know a bout that "vamp?" She has brought suit against her "soul mate" or affinity for $50,000 damages alleging among other things the following:

"By reason of the defendant's conduct she has sustained a great mental and physical shock. She had become ill. Her character and reputation have been injured. She has been humiliated before her friends and family and divorced by her husband and deprived of his support and she has suffered great anguish her prospects being greatly injured."

It is the little things that count. Secretary of Labor Davis has discovered that the government can save $50,000 per year by buying lead pencils with out rubbers for use of the clerks and stenographers at Washington. He says individual erasers are supplied all around any how and the cheaper plain pencils will do the business.

Every Congressman and United States Senator might well take heed of the following letter received by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance mailed by an ex-service man in New York City just previous to his committing suicide because he was out of work and out of funds. The letter contained a lone dollar bill with this penciled inscription accompanying it.

"This eagle will scream no more for me. It is the first dollar I have earned since being discharged from the army in September last."

Poor Old John Barleycorn, he soon will not have a single leg to stand on, as he is now being fiercely swatted and slaughtered in the houses of his friends. The latest booze fighter to hand Old John a slap on the wrist is President Heinisch of Austria, who, in addressing a temperance league meeting at Salzburg recently said, "we would have won the war if the people in both Germany and Austria-Hungary could have been persuaded to practise total alcoholic abstinence."

Why Unlucky to Go Back.

How many people would be willing to acknowledge that they believe it is bad luck to return, after leaving the house, for something they have forgotten? Some popular superstitions can be explained psychologically—and this is one of them. The psychologists agree as to the bad luck part of it, but say that the bad luck consists not so much in the going back for the article as in the forgetting of it in the first place. This shows that you do not keep your mind sufficiently upon the details of what you are doing.

Musical Gifts of Boys and Girls.

The higher musical endowments in male children are shown plainly in vocal and piano classes, where it seems invariable that the most expert and brightest students are boys. For every musical girl, there appears to be five boys equally gifted. They have naturally a better idea of harmony and instinctively grasp musical values, which, in the majority of cases, become understood by their feminine rivals only by dint of hard study.—Exchange.

Peter Minuit was appointed governor and director general of New Netherlands in 1625 by the Dutch West India company. The following year he purchased Manhattan island from the Indians for $24 in merchandise. He later built Fort Amsterdam. PHILIPSBURG MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Phil Womelsdorff, son of Hon. P. E. Womelsdorff, died suddenly at his home in Philipsburg Wednesday morning as the result of an overdose of medicine.

Phillip Campbell Womelsdorff was born in Philipsburg on Sept. 10, 1889. His mother died 23 years ago. In 1906 he was united in marriage to Miss Rose Mattern, who survives him with one son, John J. Womelsdorff. A sister, Frances, wife of Robert S. Reynolds, of New York City, his father and stepmother and half sister, Marjorie C., and half brother, Richard W., also survive.

During the war he went with a Centre county contingent to Camp Lee, and following a short stay there was taken overseas. As a member of Co. L, 158th Infantry, 90th division, he went over the top in the action on the Meuse-Argonne front. After the armistice he was transferred to the army of occupation in Germany, having been stationed at Gerolstein.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Edward Norris is indeed a happy man these days, all on account of Old Dr. Stork, in passing over this range of mountains left at his home a healthy new daughter, the first heir to be born in the family.

Curwensville resident, came across the divide from his DuBois home yesterday and will spend several days with town relatives.

Born, at the home of Mr. and Mrs Geo. Grimes, on Ridge avenue, on Tuesday night, a young son. Father and mother both highly elated over the new addition to their family.

Ted Ake and wife, who spent several weeks in Curwensville with kin folks, will start on a return trip to their home in Baltimore on Friday.

A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kirk is reported to be seriously ill.

The household goods of the late C. Lloyd Addleman is offered to the public at private sale.

Mr. Menzie has removed his household goods to Clearfield where he is expected to reside permanently, he having secured employment in the office of the sole leather tannery at that place. He leaves behind a host of warm friends who are sorry that he is leaving us, but wish him unbounded success in his new field of labor.

When the Central Pennsylvania Association of Red Men assembles at Curwensville on August 17th, it will participate in one of the biggest assemblages of Red Men ever held in Central Pennsylvania. Plans have been made to take care of the visitors in a pleasant and capable manner. There will be a fine evening program at the Pennwood Park. The Next will be [illegible] with [illegible] lights. A [illegible] dancing platform will be erected and there will be [illegible] afternoon and evening at the Park. There will also be a [illegible] in the evening at the Movie rooms. The feature of the evening will be the Manitou War Dance given in costume by the tribe. This event is one unique and entertaining. The famous American Legion Band of Curwensville will also render one of their fine concerts at the Park in the evening. Many notables among the Indians from over the State will be present, Chief of whom will be Dr. John T. Ferley, the Great Sachem, of Penna. In fact from early in the morning when Percy E. Smith and his reception committee headed by band meet the trains until the wee sma' hours of the next morning there will be one continuous round of music and pleasure for the Red Men and Pale faces.

WHAT WILL IT COST

The news that the War Department has decided to abandon several of its army cantonments, maintained for the past two years at a cost that makes one shudder, brings with it the apprehension in many quarters that the abandonment is going to be an expensive matter. It is an admitted fact it cost over a quarter of a million a month to run each and every one of these camps. Of course, this speaks only of operating expenses. In addition over half a million a year is required for upkeep in each. The value of each of the camps will run somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 but the cost of the army supplies stored at several is almost beyond calculation. At one camp in the mid-west an annual inventory taken over a year ago showed $40,000,000 worth of goods on hand.

What will be done with these huge stores of supplies, and how much it is going to cost to take care of them and properly safeguard them is one of the many things bothering those following the financial intricacies of the War Department.

In addition it will cost money to raze the camps, all of which has to come from somewhere. And last but not least, perhaps the reason that Senate and House leaders yesterday decided that railroad financial relief is not necessary is in view of the fact that the railroads will eventually reap huge benefits from the moving of the troops and supplies quartered at the various cantonments. It is noticed late reports say the troops will be marched to their next posts wherever feasible. We just wonder if they intend to take the bands along and whether they will play their way from village to village, much after the fashion of the old "German bands" and thus save the government railroad fare.

However, experts have figured it out, it is claimed, that the marching of large bodies of troops over hard roads in this country does not affect a material saving. On a two to three week hike at a rate of 12 to 15 miles a day, a pair of shoes will go up in smoke for each soldier. Figure the cost per mile. The only advantage of the idea is to give the men an opportunity to march under something near war conditions.

Japan has at last consented to a discussion of Far East and Pacile affairs at the proposed Washington disarmament conference. Which is just what has been expected all along. Nobody seriously considered the idea the Nipponese would back out of the deal, but it did raise some considerable worry over among the Washington diplomats who for the time being did not know whether they were going or coming, from all accounts.

A New Jersey pastor was recently shocked at bare knees and long expanses of feminine limbs (if you please) exposed at a "nature" dance given at a high school commencement. It is a good thing the worthy pastor is not required to spend his days in Clearfield. He would not have to attend High School commencement exercises to find an excuse to be shocked.

Just for example, a High School student of the fair sex was recently heard to exclaim to a girl companion, "Hey kid, what do you think of my new skirt," which attracted our attention enough to spare a glance. And we thought it was a sash.

DISARM OR PAY UP

Senator Borah ever and anon strikes the center of the target with his long range shots at disarmament. In his last attack he has put something up to the American people that really looks like it was all wool and a yard wide. He proposes the funding of the foreign debt be postponed until after the disarmament conference has concluded this work. Which, after all, seems one logical way to insure full consideration will be given the proposed conference and its works by all nations, especially those debtor to the United States. Billions are owed this country, and, as is readily admitted, "money tlaks."

In the forthsoming disarmament ronference, it should virtually shout, and in this instance Uncle Sam seems to hold the megaphone. Debtor nations who contend they must continue their armament programs would, under Senator Borah's plan, be told to "pay up" first.

In his recent speech Senator Borah said:

"We are now under this process, in fact, lending foreign Governments about $1,000,000 a day, and in the fact that we are forgoing the interest or deferring it we are, in fact, imposing upon American taxpayers the burden of taking care of our taxes and continuing to lend to foreign Governments at the rate of nearly $1,000,000 a day. In other words, to the extent which the foreign Governments can in good faith meet this debt and interest upon it we should inform them that we expect that to be done. The policy should be a definite, a positive and a firm policy, otherwise, it never wil lachieve anything.

"There is one other feature of this question to which I desire to call attention, and that is the relation of the foreign debt to disarmament. If I had my way about it I would not fund this debt at all nor delay the interest until after the disarmament parley had concluded its final session. It may be a matter of very great importance in the treatment of the questions which will arise at that parley. Certainly, if the Governments are unable, as they say, to meet their foreign debt and continue to spend the vast sums which they are now expending for armament it would cause us to adopt an entirely different policy in case we should fail to agree upon disarmament. For one, if there should be a reluctance upon their part to enter upon any reasonable agreement with reference to disarmament, I should certainly feel justified in insisting that they promptly meet their debt and promptly meet the interest upon their debt.

Modern Fleet of Prairie Schooners To Start On Long Trip Across Country To New Home—City Dwellers To Take Up Farm Life.

New York, July 28. (United Press.)—An emigrant train, 1921 model, was scheduled to leave here today for the west.

The trip will not be made in old-fashioned "prairie schooners" but in automobiles, each equipped with a trailer to provide sleeping and cooking accommodations.

The caravan consists of 128 families, all native Americans, who have tired of city life and will take up farming in Idaho, on a tract about 50 miles southwest of Twin Falls. The trip is expected to be made by way of Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Chicago and Omaha.

The scheme originaed with William D. Scott, a Brooklyn salesman, who formerly lived in Minneapolis. He and a friend used to take motor excursions with their families every summer. When the idea of moving to Idaho was born, a mutual friend wanted to go with them, then another and another, until it was decided to form a regular colony.

"THE GOLEM"

Again does a German-made picture disclose a new and novel brand of screen fiction. "The Golem"" directed by Paul Wegener, impressively relates a Jewish folk lore tale that has been handed down from generation to generation since the Fifteenth Century. The story itself is quite preposterous, and illustrates the queer mixture of superstition and religious ardor which was found among all creeds and civilized races four hundred years ago. Cold analysis of "The Golem" subject matter proves it to be poor stuff—with a belief in black art, horoscopy and the conjuration of the spirits of the unseen world necessary, if the story is to be taken seriously. Scenes are shown that never took place except in the imagination of the mind which conceived them but so adroitly are, most of these scenes presented and so truthfully do they reflect the "form and pressure of the time" that the production of this old fable chains the attention and holds it captive until the final foot of film.

It tells of a Rabbi who created a figure of clay and brought it to life. It was to be the champion of his people and did serve that purpose in saving the life of the king, but a jealous apprentice brought it to life once more and could not stay it in its course of destruction and terror The finish is a fine stroke. The Golem crashes through the massive gates of the Ghetto into the city and picks up a little girl, who smiles at him. Delighted, he smiles back at her. She innocently plucks the magic paper from his breast, and he tumbles back, a heap of lifeless clay

The acting of every role is equal to the demands. The actor who plays the Rabbi is superbly efficient, but not more so than is Paul Wagner as the Golem. His mage-up is remarkable and he moves and acts in an automative manner that suggests perfectly the soulless creature he is impersonating. It is a unique and wonderfully artistic character study.

"THE SIGN ON THE DOOR"

Norma Talmadge usually both decorates and illuminates a screen story. Her Acacia in "The Passion Flower" was a characterization that did these things, and more, by dint of a deep suggestiveness. In the present adaption of Channing Pollock's popular (so they say thriller, however, Miss Talmadge is the abused and innocent melodramatic "orphan" (a figure of speech that covers the case of "all unprotected, I.o. I stand") who blazes by a way through it all, mainly by snooting as they say in the studio, her eyes. It must have been a thankless role for one who knows as much as does Miss Talmadge about emotions subtler than those provided by a .32 calibre revolver and a woman hunter.

Herbert Brenon directed the picture, and he deserves lots of credit for his work. The continuity is just mediocre. and the photography is hard and at, black and white—not good enough for Mr. Brenon—and the tedious explanations and artificial solutions are—well, what one might expect from "The Sign on the Door."

"LITTLE ITAL"

So thoorugh and intelligent an actress as Alice Brady—who is very often an artist to boot—is worthy of consideration before her photoplay, his photoplay, at least. Miss Brady has no beauty to speak of above a whisper. It is ACT with her, or settle back playing Mrs. Crane. She has personality, to be sure, and one might venture a touch of magnetism with it, but she is not banking on them. She uses facial expression and bodily pantomime as tho saying something with them was her only business in life, with the result that there is some grip to her pictures. Miss Brady works, and the effect shows up in her pictures.

"Little Italy" is a sort of Montague-Capulet vendetta affair, laid somewhere near New York, in that indefinite area which, in ready-made parlance, "lies in the shadow of the Goddes of Liberty." Miss Brady plays an Italian belle who marries, because of a silly cow she made, the son of her father's lifelong enemy. The story leads up to a middling good climax, when the authors seem so eager to effect a happy ending that they throw suspense to the winds and a bona fide situation after it. Meanwhile Miss Brady is doing her best to keep the thing going, and Norman Kerry is doing his best to give an imitation of a gentleman in distress. Heroic as these things may be, the picture sags in spite of them before the end.

BROOKVILLE FALLS BEFORE BATS OF LOCAL BUNCH

Manager Hoffman and his Terriers came off the victors in a real hectic baseball battle at Brookville yesterday afternoon, the final tally, after a record-breaking swatfest being Clearfield 13; Brookville, 9.

Both teams hammered the ball unmercifully thirty-five hits for a total of fifty-four bases being the extent of the slamming of the pill.

Two Pitchers Bumped

Artman started the game for Brookville and lasted less than three innings. During the time he was on the mound eight hits were knocked out by the Clearfield sluggers. He was succeeded in the third by Hartman who fared but little better as eleven more hits were pounded out in the remaining innings.

Fileshifter Alsa Hit Hard

Fileshifter was also hit hard. Brookville securing sixteen hits off him. Eight of these hits came right straight endways in the seventh inning and resulted in eight runs. Fileshifter had been going along in fine style up to this session and not a Brookville runner had crossed the plate. But listen to this post mortum of that seventh. Hart opened with a single, Buddinger flied out to third. Hartman pickled one for three bases. Swanson walked, Warren hit safely, DeHart fanned and then Thompson, Summers, Buck and Hart each laced out singles, while Buddinger cracked out a triple. The perspiring Fileshifter then fanned Hartman and the slaughter ended with a total of eight runs. It was some inning.

Brookville's ninth run was the result of a couple of errors.

Clearfield Won From Start

The Terriers jumped right in and put two runs across in the first on hits by Kane, Seigfried and Hoffman. They added another in the second on Russell's walk and Fileshifter's triple.

Harris Hits Homer

Seigfried doubled in the third and he scored with Harris on the latter's home run to centre.

Seigfried's walk, Anderson's single, a double by Harris and a single by Hoffman scored three more runs in the fourth while Wolfe's triple and Russell's single accounted for two more in the fifth.

Harris 'double and steal and a couple of sacrifice flies put another over in the sixth and our last two runs were gathered in in the eighth when Anderson singled. Harris was hit by the pitcher and Zerfluh doubled and Wolfe singled.

The Games Features

Joe Harris' hitting was the outstanding feature of the game, while Russell's catching and the work of Seigfried and Wolfe was pretty to look at.

Oil City, Pa., July 28.—It was decided at a meeting of the board of directors of the club to disband the Oil City baseball team, the reasons assigned being lack of funds and poor support.

The Franklin team, the other member of the "two-team league," disbanded July 9, and it was explained that with the Franklin team gone the local organization was unable to keep up. That there is a deficit in finances was announced, but the amount was not stated.

The owners of the baseball park, it was stated, have requested the removal of the stands and fixturess, and these will be sold, the proceeds to be applied to taking care of the deficit.

"To Cross the Rubicon."

The Rubicon is the ancient name of a stream flowing into the Adriatic, which formed the boundary between Cisalpine Gaul and Italy proper. The phrase "to cross the Rubicon" has come to mean to take an irrevocable step, from the familiar story of its passage by Caesar, who, by crossing it in 49 B. C., virtually declared war against the republic. The modern Luso, called by the peasants on its banks Il Rubicone, has claims to being the ancient Rubicon, but arguments preponderate in favor of the Fiumicino.

HUNDREDS ATTEND GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF MR. AND MRS. CHASE

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Chase celebrated their fiftieth or golden wedding anniversary at their home on Fourth street yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Chase are among Clearfield's best known and most estimable residents and between six and eight hundred of our people from every walk in life were present during the day to extend congratulations and express the wish that this worthy couple might be privileged to enjoy many more happy wedding anniversaries.

John M. Chase, Jr., and Jennie Phillips, then both residents of the Sanborn section of Clearfield county, were happily married at Philipsburg July 27, 1871. The young couple were representative members of two of the pioneer families of their home sections and families which were and have been closely identified with the history, development and advancement of the county and its every best interest.

The young couple went to housekeeping in the Sanborn region, where they lived until about thirty years ago, when John M. Chase, Sr., and his family moved to Clearfield, and have since resided here.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase raised a fine family of eight sons, seven of whom are living and reside right here in Clearfield, all, with their families, being present on yesterday's happy and auspicious occasion.

The sons were the moving spirits in the celebration and, with their wives, perfected the arrangements and carried the affair through to such a pleasing and satisfactory conclusion. The spacious Chase home was artistically decorated in gold and white and preented a pleasing sight throughout.

On account of the large number of relatives and friends desirous of honoring Mr. and Mrs. Chase by their presence it was necessary to divide the celebration into two parts, the immediate relatives and old home friends being invited to be present from 12 o'clock until 2, while the friends generally were invited to attend the reception to the honor guests from 7 to 9 in the evening.

At the afternoon gathering following most delicious and abundant refreshments, Judge Singleton Bell took charge of the gathering in the capacity of Toastmaster and after paying a pretty personal tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Chase, lifelong friends, called upon in turn Messrs. Rev. F. L. Bardens, W. C. Miller, M. L. McQuown, Matt Savage, H. B. Powell, Rev. J. E. Gearhart, John B McGrath, Hon. Joseph E. Phillips. All were personal friends of the family for many years and all gave glowing testimonial to the respect and esteem in which these good people are held all over Clearfield county.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase each expressed the gratification and pleasure at being thus surrounded by their relatives and friends and returned their thanks to an All-wise Creator for allowing the making possible of such an occasion.

The "bride and groom" were then photographed, after which a family group was taken, and then the entire assemblage was grouped and pictured by Photographer Howard for the purpose of perpetuating the happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Chase were the recipients of many exceptionally handsome and expensive presents and have every reason to feel proud and happy over the success of their "golden wedding."

The following friends and old time neighbors from out of town were in attendance; John Brotherlin, Irvona; Mrs. Annie M. Goss, Pittsburg; Mrs. Robie Caraher, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Caraher, Altoona; Miss Jennie Hesser Altoona; Ed. Goss, Theodore Kerr, Big Run; Mrs. Owen Duffy, Mrs. V. G. Henderson, Woodland; Mrs. Burton Merritt, Winburne, Pa.; Myra Haines, Osceola; Rev. F. L. Bardens, Blairsville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Williams, Utahville; Mr. and Mrs. Anson Swan, Mr. and Mrs. John Wise, Anonville; Mrs. Mary Hannah Markle, Ladoga; Mr and Mrs. Elmer Goss, Twin Rocks; D. A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

Codling Moth Spray.—Owing to the unusually early occurance of codling moth and late apple worms, such as leaf rollers, sprays for their control should be applied at any time from now on. There should be one thorough application of lime-sulphur to test 1.008 specific gravity, with three pounds of arsenate of lead added to eahc 100 gallons. This is a very important spray for all orchards.

Cereal Pests. — Before thrashed wheat is placed in the bins, sweep them out well, removing all of last year's grain, and fumigate the bins with carbon bisulphide before putting in the new wheat. If this is not done, and the wheat begins to heat, fumigate with the bisulphide, using one pound to 100 bushels of grain.

Poultry Culling.—The successful poultrykeeper is culling his flock every few days at this time. Just as soon as a hen molts she should be removed from the flock and sold. This cuts down the feed and increases the revenues.

Grape Spray.—To check the mildews and rot on grapes, they should be sprayed immediately with a 4-3-50 solution of Bordeaux mixture. A small hand sprayer or a knapsack outfit will do for the application in ohme vines. See that the clusters are well covered.

Garden.—In dry weather remember that a mere sprinkling of water over the surface does more harm than good, by causing the upper soil to bake. A sound drenching followed by cultivation is the thing.

Dairy—Get some of your neighbors together and invite your county farm agent to be present for a discussion of the possibility of organizing a co-operative bull association. In this way you can secure the services of excellent sires for a period of years at low cost.

PLANS FOR CO-OPERATIVE WORK WITH STATES

The Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture maintains a separate division in its organization to handle its co-operation with the various States. With the consolidation of the administration of the Office of Farm Management under the chief of this bureau, it is planned to strengthen the co-operative relations with the State institutions. It is desired that the work undertaken by State and Federal workers will be based on definite projects as has been done for the past two years in the Office of Farm Management.

Research work in farm management, cost of production and cost of marketing, marketing methods and practices, etc., will be undertaken co-operatively with the State colleges and experiment stations whenever satisfactory arrangements can be made to work together. Based on information gained from these investigations the educational work will be carried on in co-operation with the extension service of the State colleges. The service work, which covers in a broad way the market news and the inspection work of the bureau, will usually be with the State Departments of Agriculture and the State Bureaus of Markets, conforming in this regard to the division of labor agreed upon in the State.

Curwensville Dollar Day A Boon To the Housewife

Merchants Combine To Make The Day One Of Real Worth To Buyers Who Take Advantage Of Its Bargains. A Real Merchandising Event.

Business conditions are such at the present time that the coming Dollar Day takes on a new significance to every thrifty housewife in this section. Merchants generally have kept stocks pared down to a minimum on account of the adjusting markets and this assures every purchaser of getting the best that the market affords.

Dollar Day, when first instituted, was hailed by a lot of merchants as an opportunity for getting rid of shelf worn merchandise at prices at or very near the original marking. Not so today. Mechants are making of Dollar Day a real merchandising event—an event wherein they make special preparations for the giving of bargains that would be ruinous under ordinary conditions.

However, when you stop to consider that it is from the volume of business that is produced by the cumulative advertising that the merchant makes his profit on these occasions, you can readily see where a few cents profit here and a few more there allows the price to be cut to the quick.

EXPECT DOLLAR DAY TO BE BIG AFFAIR IN CURWENSVILLE

Every Establishment Working Hard To Make The Sale An Epoch Marking Success. Great Array of Bargains Promised Buyers

Taken by and large, last Dollar Day was a huge success. This one, which the Curwensville merchants have arranged for next Saturday, will eclipse last time by a huge margin. Last spring when Dollar Day was sprung for the first time by Curwensville merchants, markets were in a chaotic condition and it was more or less difficult to give bargains. Now, the markets have become more or less stabilized and the price levels are so much lower that after a perusal of the offerings that have been made, it will not be hard to determine that Saturday morning is going to see a vast influx of buyers from all parts of this section.

ACTOR BECOMES LEGION MAN

Frank Tinney, Member of New York City Post Lines Up Many of His Buddies.

The man with the smile is Frank Tinney. Broadway theatre-goers are familiar with the Tinney expanse of countenance and so are various former members of the army and navy, with both of which branches Tinney served in the late lamented guerre. Tinney is herewith snapped in the very act of joining the American Legion, F. W. Galbraith Jr. post, New York City. O. R. Baines, general manager of the American Legion Weekly fastened the button in Tinney's coat.

The actor's war record is an unusual one. He enlisted soon after the outbreak of hostilities in the navy as seaman, third class. After a hitch in the army passport transport service, he was promoted to ensign and then to lieutenant, junior grade. After eleven months in the navy he was transferred by executive order to the army as captain in the intelligence service and assigned as morale officer to various camps in this country. He was discharged three months after the armistice, with commendations from the chief of the Intelligence Bureau and from the White House.

C. R. Baines and Frank Tinney.

Tinney has vigorously subscribed to the Legion motto: "Every member get a member" and has rounded up various members of the actors' colony who are eligible to Legion membership.

LEGION MAN LOST NO TIME

North Carolina Lieutenant Rose From Farmer Boy to Numerous Ranks During War.

From farmer boy to high school teacher and later a lawyer and from buck private to first lieutenant are the records of Cale K. Burgess, the first department commander of the American Legion in North Carolina, who was the pioneer Legionnaire in his state. Burgess is adjutant and finance officer of the North Carolina department.

Born July 15, 1891, at Old Trap, Camden County, N. C., Burgess was reared on a farm. He received his early education at the village public school and later was graduated from Whitsett Institute, from which he entered the University of North Carolina. He received his bachelor of arts degree in 1912 and taught science in the public high school at Raleigh two years, studying law at the same time. In September, 1913, he was granted a license to practice law in North Carolina and pursued the practice of his profession until July, 1917, when he enlisted as a private in the First N. C. F. A. N. G., which regiment was soon afterward mustered into Federal service as the 113th F. A., 30th, Division.

During the St. Mihiel offensive he served as artillery liaison officer. In the Argonne offensive and until after the signing of the armistice he served as regimental intelligence officer. He was in service eighteen months and served as private, corporal, sergeant, battalion sergeant-major, regimental sergeant-major, second lieutenant and first lieutenant. With the latter rank he served as adjutant of his regiment during the last months of his s[illegible]

One of the wings of the plane had broken, and its pilot, after crashing through a mass of planking and plaster, found himself resting on a concrete surface in utter darkness.

The Pineapple Plant.

The pineapple plant which is a biennial, grows about two feet high and produces a single axis and flower stalk. The fleshy part of the stalk forms the fruit, which is crowned by a cluster of leaves. It was introduced into Europe by the Spaniards after their explorations in South America. The earliest mention of the pineapple in England was made by John Evelyn, English author, in his "Diary," in which he speaks of having tasted a pineapple from Barbados at the table of Charles II.

Equality.

Equality is the dream of a madman, or the passion of a fiend. Extreme inequality, or high comfort and civilization in some, coexisting with deep misery and degradation in others, is no less also a folly and a sin. But an inequality where some have all the enjoyments of civilized life, and more are without its comforts, where some have all the treasures of knowledge, and none is sunk in ignorance, that is a social system in harmony with the order of God's creation in the natural world.—Dr. Arnold: "The Operative Classes."

Mending.

Electrician's sticky black tape is excellent for mending breaks in pipes or bowls. If the weak spot is in a pipe, wrap the tape around it tightly, leaving a generous amount on each side. If there is a crack in the bowl, run the tape along the crack.

Pretty Things for the Baby

IT IS a fortunate thing for all the interested friends who wish to bear gifts to the baby upon his arrival, or to anticipate it with them, that there are ribbons to depend upon. Ribbons solve practically all problems when the matter of selecting gifts comes up and they either make or adorn nearly every [illegible] layette. These help [illegible] same from you[illegible] re developed [illegible]ity by varying [illegible]ney inspire the [illegible]at each succeeding [illegible] and are as per[illegible] of this is at [illegible] new ribbon [illegible]d baby things [illegible]

[illegible] about its [illegible] embroidery or ribbon [illegible] carriage robes often look for adornment to big and ample bows or rosettes of satin ribbon, to be fastened on with a safety pin when in use. These in themselves make lovely gifts. Then there is the carriage strap made of wide elastic covered with shirred ribbon and usually embellished with bows or rosettes of ribbon.

Sachets are among the most popular of gifts and their story is a long one—there are so many kinds. Little sachet bags, shown at the left of the picture, are made of satin ribbon in many flowerlike tints, and filled with delicately scented cotton. A larger sachet of wider ribbons is pictured with crass, outlined with baby ribbon ruching and decorated with tiny flowers of it. The prettiest, of the sachets shown here simulates a flower made of overlapping petals, each petal stuffed with scented cotton and outlined with ribbon ruching.

Carpet Cleaning.

If the carpet must be cleaned at home, first beat it thoroughly, and if you have a vacuum cleaner go over it with that. Then make a wad of cotton about the size of an apple. Cover it with linen and go over the carpet with this dipped in a 5 per cent benzine soap solution. If the colors are dulled, sponge it in a weak acetic acid solution.

What Is Success?

C. W. Nash writes: "Real success is the realization of an ambition to build or to accomplish something worth while and lasting. It is the achievement itself which brings the greater reward of satisfaction, not the money it may amass."

Excels Greece.

A young Greek, whose home is in Athens, was a visitor to the capitol, and after making the rounds of the different apartments and viewing the beauties of the nave he said he had seen all the finest buildings in his native country, but none of them could compare with Kentucky's capitol for beauty and elegance of construction.—Frankfort State Journal.

Garrulous Person Unpopular.

Talkative people who wish to be loved are hated; when they desire to please, they bore; when they think they are admired, they are laughed at; they injure their friends, benefit their enemies, and ruin themselves.—Plutarch.

Changing the Basis.

Two preachers, one white and the other colored, served rural charges in Mississippi which were coterminous. The negro received a considerably larger salary than his white brother, who asked him if it was not his custom to expel his members who failed to pay. "No, boss," he replied, "we would not like to put the gospel on a money basis. We gets them to subscribe, and if they don't pay we turns them out for lying."—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Signal Fires.

In Terre del Fuego news is conveyed and conversation sustained between the different tribes inhabiting the islands by means of fires on the high peaks of the mountains. The natives are always on the lookout for these fires, and know just what they are intended to mean.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Bad Enough as It Was.

The baby was sitting in his go-cart and Jack was wheeling him up and down the sidewalk. Some men passing asked him if the baby was his brother. Jack looked at him a moment, and then said: "Sure; you wouldn't catch me hauling a strange kid around."

Hudson Maxim's "Best Chums"

Hudson Maxim, the famous American inventor, is shown here with his two "best chums"—that's what he calls them—Mrs. Maxim and their granddaughter Doris. The picture was snapped at the Maxim home, Lake Hopatcong, N. J. Most of Maxim's time, when not working on inventions, is spent with Mrs. Maxim and Doris. He predicts many startling war inventions within the next six months.

Superstition Concerning Caul.

The caul is a thin membrane found encompassing the head of some children when born, and it is considered a good omen for the children themselves. This superstition probably became widespread about the time of the Emperor Antoninus Pius. When he was born he had a band of membrane around his forehead in the shape of a diadem, and he attributed all his good fortune to this caul, and this started the sale of them. A few sailors carrying them who then happened to be saved from shipwreck diverted the superstition into seafaring channels.

Affectation?

A man who is unaffected himself turns out to be uncommonly like other people.—G. Santayana in the Dial.

As Bad as the Shower.

While visiting a friend who lived quite a distance from my home, a shower threatened, and I remarked: "I guess I'll go before I get wet." While passing a few more remarks I walked backward toward the door, but not noticing where I was going, I landed in a tub of water on the door. The shower couldn't have gotten me any wetter!—Chicago Journal.

English Humor.

A juvenile club advertises: "You furnish the fob, we furnish the boy." A correspondent stated that he saw in an English saloon an amusing variation of the above, as follows: "You furnish the bob, we furnish the joy."—Boston Transcript.

WOLFE EDMINSTON CO.

Curwensville, Pa.

This "village" was constructed in England for a demonstration of the advances made in aerial warfare. Most of the buildings were made of spare airplane parts. The church steeple is 40 feet high. All of the pilots who took part in the bombing were veterans of the World War. When they finished—ashes!

While in my sophomore year at college I was acting in a play in our assembly hall, writes a correspondent of the Chicago Journal. It was a sort of Romeo and Juliet affair written by the mother of one of the students, and, as in most plays, we were "made up" lavishly. In the midst of the love scene, I, being the Juliet of the performance, was just kissing the Romeo, when to our surprise, the audience burst into shrieks of laughter. Then I discovered the cause. On the cheek of Romeo was a little round red spot —the imprint of my kiss!

"True Blue" and the "Blue Ribbon."

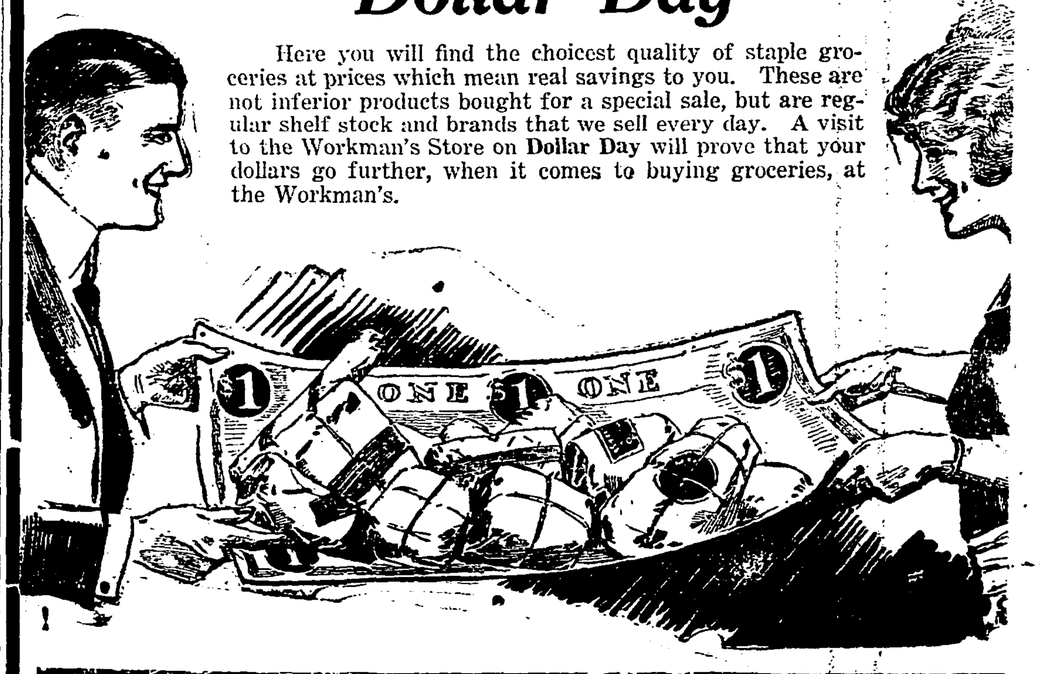

The expression true blue is handed down from the Scotch Covenanters of the Seventeenth century, who chose blue as their emblem in opposition to the royal red. The Covenanters were a group bound by a series of covenants to uphold the Presbysterian forms and doctrines of faith. Thus true blue was applied originally to a loyal Presbyterian. The blue ribbon, always the reward of the winner in a race or contest, originated in the use of a blue ribbon as the distinguishing badge of the Knights of the Garter, an order founded by Edward III.

The Magic Word.

Collier's Weekly says: "In Ohio there is one of the world's model factories. It manufactures a product known and used the world around. It has made the man who founded it and who still owns it very rich. What is more important, it has proved the training ground for many men who have left to go into other lines of business and have, in many instances, themselves become heads of big business enterprises. A visitor on being shown through the plant notices printed cards prominently placed on the walls of office and factory rooms bearing the single word 'Think.'"

Nightmare Sometimes Fatal.

While nightmare is said to be capable of causing death to a physically weak adult, this has never been known to happen to a child; yet children are more subject to nightmares than adults.

Chocolate Industry Big.

Chocolate and cocoa were first made in this country in 1765, in Dorchester, Mass., now part of Boston. The manufacture of the chocolate has been continued there ever since and today it represents one of the largest industries in the country.

Laughing Gas an Old Discovery.

Laughing gas was discovered in 1776, but it was not until 25 years later that Sir Humphry Davy made the suggestion that it might be used for surgical operations. It was not really employed as an anesthetic until nearly half a century later.

Old Formula Best.

There may be some new-fangled method of achieving success that looks good for a time, but we don't believe that any man has ever improved on the old formula of hard work and honesty.—Searcy (Ark.) Citizen.

Somewhat Embarrassing.

"The Child Study Club" was meeting at my home. I was on the program for a paper on "Discipline." I had just finished reading the same and a round table discussion was about to follow, when my youngest daughter, age 6, came into the house crying, her clothes muddy and torn. I hurriedly asked her what was the matter, and her older sister said, in tones audible to the whole club, "She's been down in the mud fighting with that bad Y—— boy."—Chicago American.

MERCHANTS MAKE READY FOR BIG DOLLAR DAY

Special Preparations Are Being Completed For Curwensville's Biggest Merchandising Event Of The Year.

HUGE AMOUNT OF WORK HAS BEEN FINISHED

Saturday Will See Each And Every Store Ready To Take Care of Big Crowd of Shoppers Expected By All.

The conditions existing in this town at present make the coming Dollar Day of more than usual interest. The industries have not been working for several months past and now that dollars are beginning to be more or less scarce the offerings of the various merchants will be met with joy by the thrifty folks of the whole section.

Every merchant entering into the event has made special preparations for the rush of business that is bound to accrue from the huge amount of advertising that has been done and when the sun first peeps over the hill on Saturday morning, he will find a host of shoppers ready to pick up the first selections.

At Anchor in the Bay of Yeddo.

The evening we dropped anchor in the bay of Yeddo the moon was hanging directly over Yokohama. It was a mother-of-pearl moon, and might have been manufactured by any of the delicate artisans in the Hanchodori quarter. It impressed one as being a very good imitation, but nothing more. Nammikawa, the cloisonne-worker at Tokio, could have made a better moon.—Thomas Bailey Aldrich.

Newfoundland Well Watered.

One-third of the surface of Newfoundland is covered with lakes and rivers. The largest lake is Grand lake, 56 miles in length, five miles in breadth, with an area of 192 square miles. It contains an island 22 miles long. Its surface is only 500 feet above sea level.

High Sign of Art.

"See that picture on the outside of my paint box?" said Gertrude, the student artist. "Well, that's my introduction to any other student who's trying to become famous along the lines of Rosa Bonheur and happens to know about the idea. There's no special picture painted on the box, if you know what I mean, but just something that will let the fellow toilers in oils know the other is striving also to reach artistic heights. In this way many acquaintances are made and a helpful exchange of ideas results. We meet students who know of the idea almost everywhere."

British Coinage.

Seven million coins are turned out every week by the British mint. One week's output of coins would, if laid out in a single layer, make a gold, silver and copper carpet ten yards wide and more than a quarter of a mile long.

Shoes Worn by Chinese Women.

Many young Chinese women have adopted western shoes, but those who grew up in the days before foot binding was forbidden still wear the tiny, resplendently embroidered shoes that have no counterpart in all the world. Roughly, these shoes are of two types: one, which has a fair-sized heel made on the shoe for outdoor wear; and another, which has no heel, for indoor use. The latter, however, may be fitted with a loose heel held in position by tapes if the lady wishes to walk abroad.

Didn't Mean to Be Forgotten.

A San Francisco woman, who died several years ago, left $5,000 each to ten of her nephews, on condition that her tombstone was to be replaced every two years with a new one on which each nephew in turn should put an inscription in verse setting forth his love and affection.

Annie Laurie.

Annie Laurie was the oldest of the three daughters of Sir Robert Laurie of Maxwelton, in the county of Kirkcudbright, Scotland. In 1709 she married James Ferguson, of Craigdarroch, and she was the mother of Alexander Ferguson, the hero of Burns' song, "The Whistle." The song of "Annie Laurie" was written by William Douglas of Finland, in the stewardry of Kirkcudbright, hero of the song "Willie Was a Wanton Wag."

Grewsome Chinese Superstition.

A belief exists among the Chinese that if a father or mother be seriously ill, the most effective way of curing them is for one of their children to cut a tiny piece of flesh out of his own arm or leg and administer broth made of the flesh in question to the suffering parent.

English Needle Industry.

English needles were first made at Long Crendon, Oxfordshire, and afterward at Redditch, while their manufacture was still in the main a home industry, different stages being completed in the cottages of the workers, who were generally women. Then came machinery; fortunes were made—sometimes lost—in the needle trade as in every other industry.

Mildew Stains.

Wet the goods and put soap on the stained parts, then rub salt and lemon juice into the mildew. Afterward apply powdered chalk and expose article to the sun and air for several hours. Another method is to use the powdered chalk alone, rubbing well into the stains, or soaking it in buttermilk and rubbing salt into it, afterward laying the goods on the grass to dry in the sun.

Flag Day Observed Since 1889.

Flag day, June 14, is the anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes by the continental congress in 1777. The day has been more or less observed since 1889. In that year George Bloch, a New York teacher, commemorated the birth of the flag with special patriotic exercises by his kindergarten pupils. Patriotic societies took up the observance and Flag day has become well established.
